A woman in a traditional black and white dirndl is standing behind a table covered with a white cloth. She is gesturing with her hands and holding a microphone. On the table in front of her is a large metal container with a wooden mallet resting on top of it. The background shows a restaurant interior with other tables and chairs.

A table in the foreground with a white cloth. On it are several glasses: a small green one, a large clear one with ice, and a large yellow one. A small green cup is also on the table. A small black device, possibly a name tag or a key fob, hangs from a chain around the neck of the person taking the photo.
